At a crossroads in life when every human being is hoping for better times, even while witnessing suffering at close quarters, income distribution and livelihood sustenance assume far more importance than they ever did. Frontline work, a term that has acquired a new meaning and has come to encompass many more job roles than what the convention demanded, has become an essential and critical service, as much as it has turned hazardous. Remote work (or working from home) has become the mainstay of knowledge work.

It is heartening to note that many business sectors are helping dispel the second-wave gloom that surrounds us in the way they know best – making pay actions that are appreciably higher, than in 2020, and are more effective. Paying forward the incentive to innovate and to grow, these sectors are shining the light at the end of the livelihood tunnel. And the remainder in the sector list we cover are gradually following suit.

Beyond the broad extremes of job categorization TeamLease had found, in our 2020 edition of this report, rare gold in the form of COVID-proof job roles and super-specialized job roles – those roles that are critical for business survival and growth and commanding substantial salary increment, and deservedly so, for the coming year. While employers have lowered their lens of scrutiny and are highly selective in rewarding job roles, this big trend continues unabated.

Employers in many sectors are also betting big on innovation and making smart investments in new-found job roles – which we have named “Hot” and “Upcoming” job roles – that will stand them in good stead in the near and not-so-near future. Foresight is a virtue the virus has not been able to take away from the well-meaning amongst us. Technology start-ups are seen to be occupying the front row seats in this spectacle of innovation.

Besides the Covid-warrior fraternity, frontline job roles in conventional business are spearheaded by the Sales and Service functions, and remote work is led by the IT function – all of this across sectors and cities. These droves of talent are keeping the engines running for businesses. And are instrumental in helping businesses effect the pay actions with aplomb.

At TeamLease, we put lives and health above everything else. But we take cognizance of the criticality of livelihoods in a situation of clear and present emergency. We wish our readers and stakeholders, and humanity as a whole, good health and better times. Godspeed!

Jobs and Job Categories Analysis
5 year salary trend Analysis

We illustrate the job-demand space in terms of 'Job Categories' with a 'Tree Map', visualization. Job Profiles that best represent the trends in each industry have been identified and categorized into 'Longstanding' jobs, 'Hot' jobs and 'Upcoming', or new, jobs.

- 'Longstanding' jobs are those that have been in existence for a fairly longer period of time than the other two job categories and are traditionally looked upon as those that define the individual sectors. These form the conventional choices each of the sectors has to offer to candidates.
- 'Hot' jobs are the toast of industry and the job market, as implied by the buzz surrounding them, are the 'flavour of the season'. As noted in the analysis 'Hot' jobs are not necessarily the most rewarding of the three categories.
- 'Upcoming' jobs are the jobs of tomorrow. By definition, these are relatively more futuristic, feature newer skill attributes or are more skill-intensive, and often characterize new-age industries.

Definitions – 5 year Salary trends

2015-2016	22,100
2016-2017	18,200
2017-2018	27,000
2018-2019	23,600
2019-2020	23,100

*Note: * - the above numbers are just for illustrations*

This section illustrates 5 years aggregate average salary trends from the period from 2015-2016 to 2019-2020 and across the sectors

► This table illustrates the average salary for the month for specific time period for each sector across the report.

‘Unified’ salaries are single, aggregated, salaries across temporary and permanent jobs. The ‘unified’ salary numbers are accompanied by a ‘variance’, a measure of the percentage by which the salary number for each of the profiles varies between temp and perm roles.

How to Read statistics off the Salary tables:

Salary statistics comprise a salary number at the profile-city-experience level and variance at the Profile-city level. For each profile, read salaries on the row on top against the profile name and variance on the bottom row against the profile name.

Example (please refer to the image at the bottom):
A 3.70% variance for ‘Accounts Assistant’ with a 2 – 5 years’ experience and a median salary of Rs.25,900 means that the salaries for this profile may vary between Rs.24,942 and Rs.26,858.

► Job Categories

► Longstanding jobs: are those that have been in existence for a fairly longer period of time than the other two job categories and are traditionally looked upon as those that define the individual sectors. These form the conventional choices each of the sectors has to offer to candidates.

► Hot jobs: are the toast of industry and the job market, as implied by the buzz surrounding them, are the 'flavour of the season'. As noted in the analysis 'Hot' jobs are not necessarily the most rewarding of the three categories.

► Upcoming jobs: are the jobs of tomorrow. By definition, these are relatively more futuristic, feature newer skill attributes or are more skill-intensive, and often characterize new-age industries.

► Unified salaries: are single, aggregated, salaries across temporary and permanent jobs.

► Variance: is a measure of the percentage by which the salary number for each of the job profiles varies between temp and perm roles.
